The failure to find out this significant relationship between the sexes invests bordering on tragedy. She makes public ,historically non-public reviews, suggesting that ladies’s private emotions of longing and loss are the part of the collective revel in of womanhood. in the collection, The Descendants, the poem —The Maggotsl name the pain of lost love with historic Hindu myths, while the poem —The searching-Glassl suggests that the very component society labels taboos are the things that girls are presupposed to observe. in the old Playhouse and different Poems, poems which include —substitutell, —Ginoll, and —The Suicidel take a look at physical love’s failure to provide success, break out from the self, and exorcism of the beyond, while poems inclusive of —The inheritancel addresses the integrity of the creative self in the face of non secular fanaticism. Dance of the Eunuchs is one of the most exquisite poems of Kamala Das. The poet vividly conjures up the surroundings of a hot, tortured, corrupt, sterile and barren world via vivid symbols and photos. The dance of the eunuchs whose joyless lifestyles displays the poet’s fractured personality is a great piece of autobiographical poetry. Kamala Das has vividly visualized the world of —vacant ecstasyl and sterility via sever a useful pix and logos in her poetry. In reality Eunuchs try and eke out a livelihood through dancing. Their dancing is mechanical and painful. The situations and the climate are forbidding.

The spectators are merciless. Even God appears to feature their woes. The eunuchs' voices are harsh and their songs are complete of despair. The issues of the songs are those of fans death and kids left unborn. some beat their drums at the same time as others beat their flat breasts and wept. The joy on their faces is handiest a masks as they writhe in pain and their faces are really vacant. The environment of heat and sterility is, to begin with, expressed through —fiery gulmohurll and —the jasmines in, their hairll couldn't offer them with a calming impact. The photo of —Their sour breastsll once more shows their sterility and barrenness because they belong to neither sex. they're destined to re mainunful filled. In truth their character displays the psychological outburst of the poet. it is able to be examined on the lines of abjection principle evolved via Julia Kristeva —The abject is that which is rejected via social cause- the communal consensus that underpins a social orderll (6). —The abject exists therefore somewhere between the concept of an object and the idea of the issue representing taboo factors of the self barely separated off in a liminal areall(7) consistent with Julia Kristeva- —The abject is located outside the symbolic order, being forced to face it is an inherently worrying enjoy, as with the repulsion supplied by disagreement with dust, waste or a corpse- an item that is violently solid out of the cultural global, having once been a subject'similarly the tremendously suggestive snap shots of: a meager rain that smelt of dust in Attics and the urine of lizards and mice....ll (8)highlight the depressed and dejected intellectual country of Kamala Das. in step with Kristeva's idea of abjection,fear is the dominant/operative word. creating a connection between language and phobia, Kristeva claims that—phobia does now not disappear however slides under languagell and —any exercise of speech, in as a whole lot because it includes writing, is a language of fearll (9). in addition the heightened sensibilities of the poet through the picturisation othe outside elements forge the photo of the psychological nation of the poet herself.—it's far a poem that successfully delineates the comparison between the superficial joy and the inner depravity. The eunuchs end up the objective correlative of suppressed desiresll. (10) there may be a great deal ache and struggling inside the verse of Kamala Das. Poem corresponds her own feeling of persecution and inadequacy. Her female self reveals the man emotionally poor and incapable of possessing a passionate regard for concrete fact. Her female self is an outcome of the cruelty, tyranny and detached mindset of man. She mourns in her works pointing out her pitiable situation. some of poems in 'The Descendants' cope with the topic of love affairs ensuing in uselessness. 'The looking Glass' capabilities as a comedian-alleviation inside the identical depth as it features in a manner to mock at the cruelty of man toward his counterpart. It gives unwonted delight to guy to think sick and negative about his spouse. he is glad to look his bodily strength and takes with no consideration that he also leads intellectually. In a male ruled global, it relies upon on female to satisfy the male ego with the aid of admiring his male prowess via showing her very own feminine weak point. Her smooth, adorable feminine self serves two obligations, first to excite his ardour and - 2nd to gratify his vanity as a superior male. Her feminine self additionally learns a way to get a guy to fulfill her lust as in "The searching Glass"—Getting a person to like you is straight forward most effective be honest about your needs as lady. Stand nude before the glass with him in order that he sees himself the stronger one

Radha's ache is searing, and her silence is given voice through Das. furthermore, via creating a powerful goddess prey to such mind, it serves as a validation for regular women to have comparable feelings. Her unfulfilled love, lusts and sexual bouts, pain and discomfort, sterility and inner vacuity, sadness, sickness, sickness and loss of life wish are expressed via the pix of human frame, solar and heart, burial and cremation ,nature, sex, sleep and the myth of RADHA and KRISHNA. okay.R.S. Iyegar feedback: —The images are icy, stony, steely, and dark — —settle time like a paper weight|| or —dies with steel sighs|| or —the night, dark cloaked like aprocuress|| and are supposed perhaps to insulate the genuine self from the surface life.|| A search for love is the main preoccupation of Kamala Das's poetry. She confesses with utmost candour that she "commenced to jot down poetry with the ignoble purpose of wooing a man" commented Nissim Ezekiel. Love will become the pervasive subject matter for her and it is through love that she endeavors to discover herself. It is not the physical love that Das longs for. What she craves for is an emotional bonding together with her guy

Conclusion

Thus, Das is an critical discern whose ambitious and sincere voice has re-energized Indian writing in English. Das has attempted to touch and feel existence in a meaningful manner and there lies a dualism in her writing in English, in which soul is contrasted to frame. Her poems are full of craving for loss of life which symbolizes calmness in contrast to the aware mind and the frame of the nerve-racking character. Her consciousness of the supremacy of spirit over depend, soul over frame, undying over the temporal is suggestive of a adulthood in her creative artwork. As an Indian writer and poet Das champions the reasons of superiority of spirit over be counted, as in a few poems like RadhaKishanl and —Vrindavanl she has tried to find a mythic equal for her look for genuine love. Her indignant female self went on emotional wanderings attempting to explore an identification and freedom. As a woman she tries to peer guy lady courting in its purest and idealized form. So dualism outcomes from the fall from adolescence innocence into the grownup realm of sexuality, marriage and existence amongst strangers. Her sympathetic information explication and revelation of the hassle of Indian woman in popular, obviously make her feminist. within the words of ok.R. Srinivasa Iyengar, —aggressively individualistic,l is Kamala Das aka MadhaviKutty, the so-referred to as icon of Indian feminism.
